

Infusion Sponsors the 2011 Worldwide Government Solutions Forum

New York, NY—April 7, 2011-- Infusion announces today that it is a gold-level sponsor for the 2011 Worldwide Government Solutions Forum in Rome, Italy from April 6-7. The two-day event will showcase a wide range of solutions, the partners who develop them and the governments around the world who are using them to deliver benefits to their citizens.

Infusion will have a major presence at this year's event to showcase its Microsoft Connected Government Framework (CGF) experience. Infusion's collaborative eGovernment platform, developed in partnership with the Inter-American Development Bank (IDB) and Microsoft, will be highlighted on stage by Dr. Silvana Rubino-Hallman, Lead Specialist Institutional Capacity of the State Division, Inter-American Development Bank.

"As a founding partner of Microsoft's CGF initiative, Infusion has been an integral part of the development, architecture and implementation of the CGF globally," said Kevin Lasitz VP, Sales & Business Development for Infusion. "Our team is experienced in designing and implementing effective CGF services for governments around the world that improve the efficiency of service and accountability of local government to its citizens, businesses, and employees."

The IDB, in partnership with Infusion and Microsoft, leveraged Microsoft's CGF to create the Haiti Integrated Government Platform (HIGP) in response to the devastating earthquake on Jan 12, 2010. IDB and its partners have donated money, software, and expertise to develop a strategic eGovernment platform. The resulting platform is a comprehensive and robust solution that will help the government of Haiti rebuild its institutional capacity, facilitate inter-government and external stakeholder communication, and connect with citizens in need.
